Dear Colleague,

We are a developing international university located in East Kalimantan, Indonesia. The University of Mulawarman will celebrate its 51st anniversary this year. As an initiative to open global collaboration, we cordially invite you to be an editor or a reviewer in International Journal of Tropical Natural Sciences or International Journal of Tropical Social Sciences. These two journals are pilot project for high flying international publications that are hosted by Directorate of International Affairs, University of Mulawarman.

The International Journal of Tropical Natural Sciences will receive research articles in the field of natural sciences from respective subjects/courses. The International Journal of Tropical Social Sciences will receive research articles in the field of social, economy, and education sciences from respective subjects/courses. Each journal is aimed to produce two issues in one volume per year. Upon receiving steady and adequate submissions, the journal will transform into more specific titles under the umbrella name of Tropical Sciences.

The Directorate of International Affairs will insure the integrity of the journals and the quality of reviewing processes as both journals are aimed to be indexed in Scopus and other indexing agencies within short period.

Signed application can be submitted to Directorate of International Affairs, Rectorate Building 3rd fl., University of Mulawarman, Samarinda, East Kalimantan, INDONESIA or by email to ij@unmul.ac.id before 30 April 2013.
